Do you feel as though your basic needs like food, clothing, shelter and physical safety are well taken care of at this point?
Are you engaged in mental health and/or addiction recovery? If this applies to you, can you briefly describe what your “recovery” looks like? For example, you might see a mental health counsellor once a week, regularly take prescribed medications, attend support group meetings, etc.
Do you agree to keep the identities and shared experiences of other members confidential? For example, “what is shared here, stays here”.
Are you familiar with the Stages of Change? If so, what stage would you consider yourself to be in (pre-contemplation, contemplation, preparation, action, and maintenance). If you aren’t familiar with this yet, don’t worry, just skip to the next question...
Do you have an existing support system? For example, peer-support worker, mental health counsellor, doctor, family member, friend, sponsor, or someone else that you can trust and is supportive. Can you elaborate on these people a little bit?
